THE COTTON SITUATION
(By Henry Clews & Co.)
New York, Nov. 22.—The week's market has been largely a trader's affair, with little or no significance in the price changes. It is to be noted, however, that the buying, especially of the deferred options, increased whenever the market sold off. Although a great part of these purchases emanated from local interests, there is no doubt that foreign agents were active in our markets, buying liberally of spots and contracts. Russian and Swedish interests were the chief option buyers, while German interests absorbed spots whenever offerings were made at any concession from ruling prices. This latter buying is highly significant, for, even though it is impossible to make shipments to German ports, purchases for that account are taking just so much cotton off the market, and indicate pretty clearly that cotton around current prices is cheap notwithstanding the fact that from a manufacturing standpoint no use can be made of such specific holdings for some time to come. According to official reports, October consumption by domestic mills was over 500,000 bales, and this increasing absorption by American mill interests would seem to foreshadow a total domestic demand for the season of close to 7,000,000 bales. It will be seen, therefore, that from a domestic as well as a foreign standpoint the factor of consumption is beginning to loom up as a constructive price influence, which so far as can now be ascertained, will not be overbalanced by the season's supply. There are still differences of opinion regarding the size of the crop and for that reason the forthcoming census report to be issued Monday is looked forward to with considerable interest. According to the National Ginners' association, the amount of cotton ginned prior to November 14, in round numbers, is placed at 8,800,000 bales. This would mean a little over 5,000,000 bales ginned for the last period. Assuming that the government will confirm these figures, and taking into consideration the average ginning percentage for the last six years, the crop would figure about 11,000,000 bales, exclusive of linters. But if a deduction is made on the basis of the average ginning percentage of 55 per cent for the three short crop years, 1909, 1910, and 1912, it will be seen that a production nearer 10,500,000 bales is indicated. This phase of the situation, however, is more or less immaterial. It is generally believed that every crop factor has been given due consideration and discounted and that the future of prices now depends almost entirely upon the question of distribution. From present indications world's consumption should readily take care of this season's production and at the same time make a big inroad upon last year's carry-over.

THANKSGIVING IN OKLAHOMA

(By Edna Earle Ringer)
Thanksgiving and the joy of living
The two go hand in hand in our fair land.
In Oklahoma, the state that keeps pace with the rest
Where no panics or drouths are a pest.
Just silos and bumper crops,
Not even use for the cops.
A clime of sunshine the year round,
A clime where good fellowship abounds.
This year unmindful of our great prosperity,
In Divine reverence and all sincerity
Let us give thanks to the Great and Good Giver of all,
That we have hearts which beat in sorrow
For Europe's sad tomorrow,
Why even today, there's not a ray
Nor a way to compensate the loss,
Or bring back the men so ruthlessly lost for this cause
Let us pray that we can help find a way,
So that we can sing with heart and voice,
"Peace on earth—Good Will to Men."
Amen and Amen.

A QUESTION—"Why is President Wilson the greatest sage of any age?" THE ANSWER (in rhyme)—

Cupid got so busy,
He made old "Woody" dizzy.
So he didn't halt,
To "pop" the question to Mrs. Galt.
Then to square himself with the "sauffs,"
So they wouldn't be in a huff,
He announced for women's votes.
He knew if he didn't, they'd surely get his goat."

(Now),
At the White House happiness reigns supreme,
As Cupid's dart has pierced many hearts
All the world takes a part,
And joins in this sweet refrain,
"We're never too young or too old to love,
For such a divine thing comes from above."

singularly suited to his effective methods and masterly handling of big situations. The actor himself declares that he has never played a role that afforded him better opportunities. Mr. Shay's career before becoming united with the William Fox forces was a series of great dramatic triumphs both as a star in Broadway productions and at the head of his own companies. He combines fire, magnetism and great dramatic power.

When Baby Comes.

Before baby comes there is a period when experienced mothers are glad to aid the expectant mothers. They urge the use of Mother's Friend, obtained at any drug store, because this safe, harmless external remedy is positively necessary since it brings relief in easing the muscles, cords, tendons and ligaments involved, and unnecessary pain is avoided; thus it serves to ease the mind and has a beneficial effect on the nervous system. In many cases nausea, morning sickness and other distresses are avoided.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE IS ALMOST FINISHED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—President Wilson is putting the final touches on his annual message to congress and expects to finish it not later than tomorrow as he wishes to spend Thanksgiving Day as free from business responsibilities as possible. From the highest authority it is understood that preparedness and revenue will be the dominant features of the annual message. The president is expected particularly to urge upon congress the necessity of adopting the Garrison army plan without alteration, as he is convinced that any tinkering by legislative theorists would hurt more than it would help. How to pro-

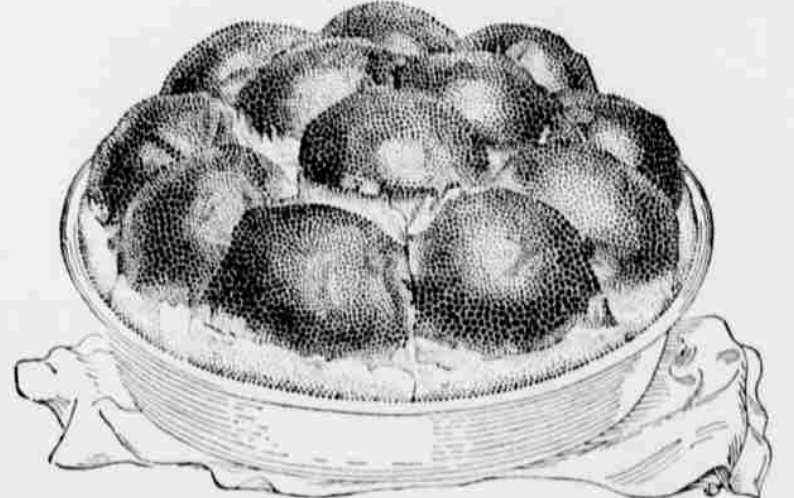

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or, as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a teaspoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoonful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.
It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Mr. Coffee Bean

Seems to be having a hard time of it these days.

He has been found out. Some coffee concerns have tried to rid him of caffeine, a powerful habit-forming drug, but without full success and in so doing have partially destroyed his only redeeming feature, pleasant taste.

Coffee is becoming more and more unpopular with thinking people everywhere. They are finding out that its drug, caffeine, is a frequent cause of headache, nervousness, biliousness, and various other ills.

The point is—can you afford to risk health and happiness for a few cups of coffee? The wise thing is to quit coffee and use
